

Alumni... notes

Did you know... AARON KOPP, BFA '09, shot and co-produced Saving Face, a 2012 Academy Award® winner for documentary (short subject).

1970s

RHONDA LEMKE SANFORD, BA English '75, MBA '89 & MA English '93, completed her Ph.D. in English in 1998 at the University of Colorado Boulder and has been promoted to professor of English at Fairmont State University in Fairmont, W.Va. Sanford also serves as secretary-treasurer of the International Spenser Society.

STEVEN MAFFEO BA English '76, is the associate library director at the Air Force Academy. He retired in 2009 as a naval reserve captain. His third book, The Sky: A Journey from Dachau to Denver and Back, a memoir about her 43-year search for her father who disappeared shortly after her birth in war-torn Germany.

1990s

JOHN ANDERSON, MA History '90, is the map librarian and director of the Louisiana State University Cartographic Information Center. He provided time-critical support to rescue and recovery operations after Hurricane Katrina and continues to provide research materials to scholars who are in the country

ELIZABETH HAUSLER, MS Environmental Sciences '95, is the founder and CEO of Build Change has been recognized as one of the three US Social Entrepreneurs of the Year for 2011, by the Schwab Foundation for Social Entrepreneurship, for her organization's innovative work and social impact. Build Change is changing practices of home building in earthquake-prone regions to engage citizens, set in place new and lasting practices, and influence the adoption of improved building codes to ensure that earthquake-resistant construction becomes a common practice.

awareness campaigns and special projects. Reyes also serves as the bilingual spokesperson for the department. She works on several boards and committees including the Circle of Latina Leadership and Hispanic Chamber's Young Leaders Group. Reyes earned an MBA from Regis University.

2000s

CHARMAINE BRITTAIN, Ph.D. Public Administration '00, was recently honored with the Distinguished Services in Training award from the National Staff Development & Training Association, an affiliate of American Public

SUZANNE DISCENZA PhD Public Affairs '04, was awarded the Marcia P. "Marcy" Crowley Service to the Section for Women in Public Administration award in March. The award was given at the American Society for Public Administration Annual Conference in Las Vegas, NV and honors outstanding service to SWPA. Discenza is the associate professor and director of Park University's Master of Healthcare Leadership Program. Currently living in Kansas, she serves on numerous boards and committees of Kansas City organizations.

LINDA THEUS-LEE, MS Social

Sally Planalp

Barbara Cooper

Elizabeth Hausler

Erika Reyes

Annie Davies

Murugan Palani

Linda Theus-Lee

Suzanne Discenza

